

SPECIFICATION

Summary

The invention is a standing feather beauty product applicator. The invention allows the user to apply beauty products and then rest the applicator on a stand.

Description

As shown in Figure 1, the invention consists of a feather puff glued into a standing base. Figure 2(A) demonstrates the top of the feather puff, which is held together with an ornate tie as shown in Figure 2(C) and Figure 3(C). The puff may be ostrich or marabow feathers. Figure 3 demonstrates the standing base, into which the feather puff is inserted. The puff is held to the standing base using a clear epoxy as shown in Figure 3(D).